A HEARTY WELCOME!

Dear language aspirant,

Welcome to the Goethe-Institut Pune, the official cultural institute of the Federal Republic of Germany and your partner for successfully learning German for everyday life, free time, work or university

We are glad you chose to learn German with us. With 60+ years of experience worldwide - since August 1961 here in Pune - continuous development of our teaching methods, the qualification of our teachers, together with the regular evaluation of our institute guarantees quality and an ideal learning atmosphere.

You are reading our Learning Assistant, which will not only give you information about our services and courses at the Goethe- Institut Pune, but also tips and links that will help you to improve your German further.

Have fun learning! Viel Spaß beim Deutschlernen!

OUR PHILOSOPHY

We at Goethe-Institut Max Mueller Bhavan Pune emphasise on the learning process with a communicative approach and intercultural understanding in the virtual as well as physical classroom. Be it a day to day communication or a rendezvous with the natives, our authentic teaching approach will always come handy. The classes are taught in German right from the very first lesson, and reflect the latest development in modern teaching methodology and didactics. All skills: talking, reading, writing and listening are practised during the class.

The learning objectives are described in the course book. Our teachers also make sure that you are aware of the same.

The courses level and contents orient towards the Common European Frame of Reference for Languages.

(<https://www.europaeischer-referenzrahmen.de/sprachniveau.php>)

All Goethe-Instituts worldwide and many universities and language schools teach in accordance with this Frame of Reference. That is to say that after successfully completing a course you can easily continue studying at another Institute or at another Goethe-Institut worldwide.

An overview of the contents that you will learn in your desired level can be found on the next page:

Tips & Tricks to learn German efficiently

- Attend classes constantly and participate actively during lessons. Login punctually into class. Schedule about two to three hours of reworking.
- Our advice for reworking: Do your homework and further exercises in the workbook and / or online course room.
- Reread texts discussed in class. Please don't do exercises of the following days. Preliminary studies are not useful. Have a look at the notes you made during class: what should I have learned today? Did I learn it? Did I understand the new subject matter?
- Keep a learning diary: Write down the important points of the notes you made in class on a punched sheet of paper (A4 format). You can file this piece of paper in a folder. Like this you can easily extend your records. Your teacher can give you advice on how to keep your diary.
- Write down examples for the exercises you did during class and add your own example sentences.
- Mark the different aspects with different colours.
- Write down all words you remember of the topic covered in class. For ex: in mind maps, lists or by drawing.
- Use the new words and grammatical structure. Write your own example sentences using what you learned newly or change example sentences of the textbook.
- Write your own short texts with these words and structures.
- Keep track of what was difficult for you in class and what you found easy in your diary.
- Repeat not only the educational content of the previous day but also the content of earlier days.
- A well-kept diary is very useful for revision.
- If anything remained unclear: Write down questions and ask your teacher at the next lesson!
- Learn new words. Write down the new words for example on notecards. Use colours or pictures to mark and illustrate the words. Colours and pictures help greatly in learning new words. You can for example always mark the articles "der", "die" and "das" with colours. Write a short story or paint a small picture for every newly learned word.
- If you memorize the new words by the help of a short story or a picture it will be much easier for you to learn it.

- Decide for yourself what you would like to learn. Especially in higher grades it is not possible to memorize every word. And you also don't have to.
- Decide for yourself which words are important to you and learn these words intensively. Think in German: Frame your daily thoughts in German, for ex.: "Ich muss an der nächsten Station aussteigen." or: "Die Äpfel sind aber teuer!"
- Create tandems: Don't just learn alone but search for another person to learn together. Search for other course participants with whom you would like to learn.
- Meet after class and talk about the course content and about other topics.
- Speak German only.
- Even on the phone or by texting each other you can learn.
- Occupy yourself with German in your free time, too.
- Online you will find lots of German radio stations you can listen to in your free time.
- Also, the e-library of the Goethe-Institut offers several media you can either have a look at on site or borrow.
- On the move you can listen to German podcasts.
- Inform yourself about current issues in German-speaking countries online. For exams of higher grades it is important to be informed about latest trends and developments in German-speaking countries. Therefore, it is sensible to visit websites of German newspapers regularly and to read interesting articles or watch videos. You can also inform yourself in English language about Germany.
