Worksheet 1:

Miguel de Cervantes was a very famous writer who lived many years ago, in the 16th century, in Spain. He wrote one of the most important books of all time, called "Don Quixote".

Miguel was born in 1547 in a city called Alcalá de Henares, near Madrid. His family wasn't very rich, so Miguel couldn't go to school for a long time. But that didn't stop his love for books and writing.

When he was young, Miguel left his home and started traveling the world. He had many different jobs, like soldier, tax collector, and even prisoner of war. But he always found time to read and write!

In 1605, Miguel de Cervantes published his most famous book, "Don Quixote". This book tells the story of a crazy knight who fights imaginary giants and has many adventures. People all over the world loved this story, and they still do today!

He became one of the most important writers in history, and his book is still read and loved by people of all ages around the world!

Miguel de Cervantes died in 1616, but his legacy lives on forever through his wonderful stories and his incredible imagination.

¡Don Quijote y los Gigantes!

Narrador: Había una vez un caballero valiente. Se llamaba Don Quijote. Vivía en España, en un lugar de la Mancha. Don Quijote tenía una cabeza llena de sueños.

Narradora: Un día, Don Quijote salió en busca de aventuras con su fiel escudero Sancho Panza. Cogió su espada, su lanza, su escudo y montó en su caballo, Rocinante.

Narrador: Don Quijote y Sancho Panza cabalgaban por el campo, cuando Don Quijote vio a lo lejos algo que se movía.

Don Quijote: ¡Son gigantes! ¡Yo, Don Quijote, los derrotaré!

Sancho Panza: Señor Quijote, eso no son gigantes

Don Quijote: ¡Son gigantes, Sancho! ¡Se valiente! ¡Lucha conmigo! ¡Rocinate, a la batalla!

Rocinante: ¡A la batalla, señor!

Narrador: Sancho tenía razón, no eran gigantes, sino molinos de viento. El viento hacía girar sus aspas y parecían los brazos de unos gigantes.

Narradora: Con su espada, Don Quijote intentó derribar el primer molino. El viento lo tiró de su caballo y Don Quijote cayó al suelo.

Don Quijote: ¡Ay! ¡Los gigantes me han vencido!

Rocinante: Una nueva derrota, señor.

Sancho Panza: Señor Quijote, no son gigantes. ¡Son molinos de viento!

Rucio: Déjalo, Sancho, Don Quijote está loco.

Narrador: (dirigiéndose al público) gritad "¡no son gigantes!". Una vez más ¡no son gigantes!".

Narradora: (dirigiéndose al público) gritad "¡son molinos!". Una vez más: "¡son molinos!"

Narrador: Don Quijote se sintió un poco avergonzado, pero luego se rió.

Don Quijote: Parecían gigantes desde lejos. Pero no importa, Sancho, ¡seguiremos en busca de nuevas aventuras!"

Narradora: Y así, con la lección aprendida, Don Quijote y Sancho Panza continuaron su viaje, listos para vivir una nueva aventuras.

Worksheet 6 (script in English)

Don Quijote and the giants!

Narrator: Once upon a time, there was a brave knight. His name was Don Quixote. He lived in Spain, in a place called La Mancha. Don Quixote had a head full of dreams.

Narrator: One day, Don Quixote set out in search of adventures with his faithful squire Sancho Panza. He took his sword, his lance, his shield, and mounted his horse, Rocinante.

Narrator: Don Quixote and Sancho Panza were riding through the countryside when Don Quixote saw something moving in the distance.

Don Quixote: They are giants! I, Don Quixote, will defeat them!

Sancho Panza: Señor Quijote, those are not giants.

Don Quixote: They are giants, Sancho! Be brave! Fight with me! Rocinante, to battle!

Rocinante: To battle, sir!

Narrator: Sancho was right, they were not giants, but windmills. The wind made their blades turn, and they looked like the arms of giants.

Narrator: With his sword, Don Quixote tried to knock down the first windmill. The wind knocked him off his horse and Don Quixote fell to the ground.

Don Quixote: Ouch! The giants have defeated me!

Rocinante: Another defeat, sir.

Sancho Panza: Señor Quijote, they are not giants. They are windmills!

Rucio: Leave it, Sancho, Don Quixote is crazy.

Narrator: (addressing the audience) Shout "They are not giants!" Once more, "They are not giants!"

Narrator: (addressing the audience) Shout "They are windmills!" Once more, "They are windmills!"

Narrator: Don Quixote felt a little embarrassed, but then he laughed.

Don Quixote: They looked like giants from afar. But it doesn't matter, Sancho, we will continue in search of new adventures!

Narrator: And so, with the lesson learned, Don Quixote and Sancho Panza continued their journey, ready to live a new adventure.
